ABSTRACT

By increasing the local revenue, the economic activity in West Kalimantan will rise and so does the economic growth. It'll also have the same impact on capital expenditure. It's important to analyze the market development of the local revenue in West Kalimantan so we will know how the local revenue impacts on the economic growth.

There's a positive significant relation from capital expenditure and non-linear general allocation fund to economic growth in West Kalimantan. On the other hand, the local revenue has a negative impact. Unlike the local revenue development, the value of government capital expenditure increases for years.
